Who is an Endodontist?

An endodontist is a dental specialist who has completed additional postgraduate training after dental school to prepare them for treating complicated endodontic cases. Dr. Ngoh has limited his practice to root canal treatment and related procedures. We work closely with your General Dentist to ensure timely and complete success.

What is Endodontics?

Root canal (endodontic) treatment is performed when the inner tissue of the tooth (the pulp) has been damaged, usually through disease, decay or physical trauma.
3D CBCT Scan

3D Cone Beam Computer Tomography (CBCT) Scan technology is an innovative two-in-one solution that captures powerful, precisely focused 3D images. These high-resolution, precise images enable Dr. Ngoh to make more informed diagnoses and better identify areas that are in need of treatment.

Key Benefits Include:

• High-resolution images—your doctor can view your teeth more clearly
• Less radiation—technologically advanced unit only radiates areas being treated
• Improved patient care—your doctor can perform a wider range of diagnoses, helping reduce multiple visits, saving you time and money by pinpointing the offending tooth.
• Eliminate unnecessary treatment—your doctor can determine with certainty if a tooth needs treatment, and the best choice of treatment.

"The last thing I wanted to hear was, "you need a root canal." To my surprise, the procedure was painless. In fact, I felt so good I left his office and went to play a round of golf."

—Rev. Melvin Lowry
“Entered shaking… left with a smile. Easiest root canal ever! Professional staff eased my fear and renewed my faith in pain-free endodontics.”
—Ginny Terry

We understand your concerns and have gone the extra mile to offer you Sedation Endodontics.

Sedation Dentistry is today's preferred method among leading-edge dental practices. It not only minimizes the anxiety that can be associated with a visit to the dentist, but combined with our advanced methods in local anesthesia, our patients also enjoy an overall more comfortable, relaxing, safer, and pain-free experience.

Dr. Ngoh is highly trained and licensed to provide Conscious Sedation and has become known as a leading Sedation Endodontist in the CSRA. He is an active member of the Dental Organization for Conscious Sedation.

• High fear and anxiety?
• Hard to get numb?
• Acute or chronic jaw soreness?
• Strong gag reflex?
• Traumatic dental experiences?
Meet Dr. Emmanuel C. Ngoh

As the founder and CEO of Augusta Endodontic Center, Dr. Emmanuel C. Ngoh feels blessed by the opportunity to provide superior endodontic care to patients in the CSRA.

Dr. Ngoh has served the dental needs of patients in the greater Augusta area and in pockets of the world through his mission outreach for over 20 years. In the interim between his dental school career and earning his Endodontic Specialty Certification, Dr. Ngoh served as a General Dentist in private practice for 4 years.

Dr. Ngoh’s faith has called him to serve those less fortunate through short-term mission trips throughout the world. Through his passion for dentistry and strong faith, Dr. Ngoh has taken and led missions to Haiti, Trinidad, Honduras, Nicaragua, Cameroon, Peru, and Ecuador.

Dr. Ngoh is originally from Cameroon, Africa and is happily married to Catherine. They are the proud parents of three sons.
Our Mission

We strive for excellence in a Christ-centered environment to make a difference in the lives of the patients we serve. We use advanced technology to expedite treatment creating a less stressful, more predictable, comfortable & relaxing experience. We give compassionate care by treating the person, not just the tooth.
